

Nancy (Xu) Liu is Research assistant in data collection and statistical analysis with The University of Tennessee's Forest Products Center. Ms. Liu is learning her M.S. in statistics from the University of Tennessee, College of Business Administration (2009). She holds her M.A. in Economics from Nankai University, China (2006) after her three years career development as business supervisor in charge of international trade among USA, China and Southeast Asia (2000-2003). She received her B.S in Accounting from the Dongbei University of Finance & Economics, China (2001) and her associate degree in Industrial Foreign Trade from Dalian Polytechnic University, China (2000). Her expertise is in statistical analysis of large data set by SAS, Matlab, JMP and MapPoint. Meanwhile she is proficient in econometrical analysis with solid knowledge in economics and finance theory and application.